

WORK. CULTURE. PARIS.

Welcome to the Paris Showroom

Bienvenue à Paris – the city of fashion and of design. Explore your respective working culture together with our Paris colleagues and learn how our concepts and product solutions support you in experiencing integrated spaces. Discover solutions that advocate team work, focused working and different communication and meeting situations in response to the changes shaping today's working environment. The traditional office workstation is evolving into a place that cultivates communication and creativity. The transition from concentrated single-person activity to an open exchange in project teams in well-appointed areas define today's office life.

Use our premises as a meeting point to engage in an exchange with clients, partners and architects in workshops during which you develop ideas for the re-design and transformation of your offices.

One place. One brand. One experience.
